A shooting match is to take place at Galesville on the Fourth of July.

The Capitol Commissioners pronounce the Roseburg lime fully up to the test.

Hon. John Brazee has been appointed Agent for the O. S. N. Co. at the Dalles.

The Gov. Grover now discharges her freight for Corvallis at the Farmers' Warehouse.

The Marion County Farmers' Club was in session at Salem with a full attendance last week.

Through the liberality of citizens and the City Council, Corvallis is soon to have a brass band of its own.

Over 300 tickets in the Omaha lottery were taken at the Dalles: the holders are anxiously looking for the prizes.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. Irvin Smith, of Benton county, had his thigh broken by a team running away.

The citizens of Stayton, Marion county, propose to honor the glorious Fourth by an appropriate celebration.

The postoffice at Junction City was robbed last Friday night of about $40. No clue to the robbery at last accounts.

About six hundred head of beef cattle and a thousand head of sheep have been shipped below from the Dalles the past month.

A gentleman named Southward, lately from the east, died on Deer creek, Douglas county, last week, of congestion of the lungs.

Beef is now peddling by the butcher carts at three and six cents per pound, at the Dalles, and salmon one to two bits each, according to size.

S. W. Crane, G. F. Griffith and R. H. Tyson are delegates from the Roseburg Lodge of Good Templars, to attend the County Convention on the 19th instant.

Mr. Litchfield, who has been appointed to the Siletz Agency, vice Samuel Case, resigned, went down to the scene of his future labors on Wednesday of last week.

The Salem Farmers' Club, at its next meeting, will discuss the following: "Resolved, That dairy farming cannot be made generally successful in the Wallamet valley."

A young lad aged about fourteen, the son of Mr. Fitzpatrick, at Bake Oven, Wasco county, died a few days since from the effects of a pistol shot wound in the hand.

Mr. John D. Wilson of Yoncalla informs the Pantograph that grain is being shipped in considerable quantities from that place. Indications are good for an abundant harvest.

It is said that a charivari took place a few miles below Eugene last week, at which paper wads were shot through the windows, and other damages done, for which parties proposed to pay $30.

Workmen have been engaged for two days in laying down a side track from near the Salem depot to the State House grounds, to be used for the delivery of lime and building stone from the Umpqua valley.

The Agent of the Corvallis Warehouse Company has closed a bargain by which the Company purchase the Moore & St. Clair warehouse property, wharf, etc., for $2,500. The property embraces eight lots, we believe.

Mr. Charles Nickell, of Hull & Nickell, proprietors of the Democratic Times, Jacksonville, has purchased a new typographical outfit complete in San Francisco, and the Times will soon resume its old proportions.

An assessment of fifty per cent. has been levied on the capital stock of the University Association at Eugene to be paid by July 1st. The money is certainly needed, as the work is being pushed forward with commendable zeal.

At a recent farmers' meeting in Linn county, it was suggested that the clubs, all over the State, seek out and assist in advertising every man or company engaged in manufacturing from raw material produced in this State.

Twenty-seven wool growers of Douglas county have resolved not to sell their wool for less than 30 cents per pound, and to hold it until the next meeting of the Convention, on June 28th. The 27 men owned over 16,000 sheep.

Wm. Herriott, of Applegate, Josephine county, met with a serious accident on Thursday of last week. He was loading a wagon at the depot and, while lifting a crate, ruptured a blood-vessel in his nose. For a while it was feared that death would ensue.

The body of Alexander Dunbar, who was drowned on the second day of January last, in the South Umpqua river, was recovered on the 30th of May in a slough near the residence of Samuel Moore, about three miles below where he was drowned. The body was much decayed, and was only identified by the clothing.

A brief note from Mr. W. B. Williams, Toledo, Yaquina Bay, dated June 4th, brings the unwelcome intelligence that the dwelling house of Mr. Jos. Thompson, printer, near that place, was consumed by fire on the 3rd inst. Mrs. T., and three small children, were alone at the time—but succeeded in saving a portion of the furniture.

The following deeds are made out at the office of the Secretary of the School Land Commissioners: Perry Kilborn, Douglas county; Albert Gaines, Yamhill; Louis Bergevin, Marion; H. L. Darling, Clackamas; J. J. Smith, Jackson; C. H. Haynes and J. F. Sanders, Wasco; and the heirs-at-law of Allen C. Davis, Washington county.

In addition to the school fund already apportioned for 1873, the County Treasurer of Douglas has recently received from the State Board the sum of $1,705 85 coin, and $692 legal tender, amounting to $2,397 85, which, together, with a small amount from other sources, will be apportioned among the several school districts in the county, on or before the third Monday in September.

The Sentinel says: "D. B. Rea, Esq., has presented B. F. Dowell with a specimen of rich float cinnabar, from Rea & Alcohls' placer claim on Brush creek, one of the tributaries of the left hand fork of Applegate, in the Steamboat mountains in this county. This specimen assays 75 per cent. quicksilver. There is evidently a rich cinnabar vein in the Applegate mountains near Steamboat City."

Mrs. Mary E., wife of Wm. M. Hand, proprietor of The Dalles Mountaineer, died at her residence on the 5th inst. She was greatly esteemed by all who knew her, and her death will cause great regret to a large circle of friends. She was the daughter of Mr. Demas Beach, of Albany. She leaves a mourning husband and one child. We sincerely sympathize with Bro. Hand in his severe bereavement.

A Eugene paper learns that gold in paying quantities, has been discovered on Sharp's Creek, a tributary of the East Fork of the Coast Fork, about fifty miles from Cottage Grove. It is said that as high as $8 a day to the hand has been obtained, and that the bars along the creek will average perhaps $3 a day to the hand. It is believed that many bars will be discovered when the creek falls where paying diggings will be found.

"Citizen," of Coos county, writing to the Mercury, speaks of an occurrence at Marshfield which should be brought to the attention of the Peace Commission. A female member of the Lo family got on the war path and knocked the brains of her child out by thrashing it on the ground. This is a good opportunity for Meacham or Steele. At $10 a day they could make a treaty with this "poor, persecuted people," and "save further bloodshed." By all means give them a chance.

Our Oregon City correspondent speaks very highly of the elocutionary entertainment lately given in that place by Prof. W. S. McFadden, late of Pittsburg, Pa. He says "the Professor's rendition is excellent, he has a good voice, a pleasing appearance and a most happy way of throwing himself entirely into his performance. The humorous part of the programme was the most side splitting ever we witnessed. All went home well pleased."

The Corvallis Gazette of last Saturday, says: "Mr. Jas. E. Dixon, formerly of the Elk City Hotel and stage line, informs us of a most serious accident that befel Mr. H. Aphel, last Sunday, as he was returning to the Bay, after a visit to his family in Portland. He stayed over night at Mr. Oglesby's, about twelve miles this side of Elk City, on Saturday night. The next morning upon mounting the horse he had hired, the animal began to 'buck,' and fell, breaking Mr. Aphel's right leg and injuring the other also."

C. P. Burkhart of Linn county, writing to the Farmer under date of June 3d, says the question of building warehouses in Albany by the farmers, and having them controlled by the farmer and wheat raiser, is no longer in doubt, as the enterprise was made manifest on yesterday. About one hundred farmers assembled at the Court House, and elected a board of directors, who will immediately proceed to erect one or two very large warehouses in the course of six or eight weeks, so as to be in time to receive the present crop in store.

Rev. S. Bowers, of Salem, has in his library a copy of the first edition of Sandy's Ovid, printed in London in 1626. Benson J. Lossing, the historian, has a copy of the first edition printed in America, which he highly prizes, but Mr. Bower's edition antedates it by several years. It contains a frontispiece by Cecil, engraved on copper, and is probably the only copy of the edition extant. Mr. Bowers has also a copy of Eusebius' Ecclesiastical History, printed in 1619, and the Christian's Pattern by Thomas A. Kempis, printed in 1684.

Messrs. James Martin, Hugh Herron, Robert Herron, and H. Bundy, are now erecting a warehouse 100x40 feet, of sufficient capacity to hold about 40,000 bushels of grain. The building will be situated on the Williamette River, about four hundred yards above Hamilton's warehouse, near Long Tom. The builders propose to accomodate with store room all who may wish to place their wheat in this house. They propose to ship their own wheat, direct to Portland, and pay nothing to speculators and warehousemen. The house will be completed in season for the growing crop. We are glad to note these evidences of prosperity among our farmers.

THE TERRITORIES.

One company now buying stock in Walla Walla proposes to pay out $40,000 this season.

The Owyhee Avalanche of May 31st says "the backbone of winter is broken but the tail yet wags furiously."

The Golden Charlot Mining Company has recently struck some very rich ore in their mine near Silver City.

An unfortunate calf has been born in Jordan valley, without a tail, and is as yet all unconscious of the horrors of "fly time."

An Episcopal Convocation will meet at Olympia on the 18th of July, and at that day and the two following ones. Bishop Morris will preside.

The North Pacific Commercial Company of Puget Sound has gone into bankruptcy, and on the 13th of May was sold to B. F. Taylor of San Francisco for $335.

At a school meeting in the district west of Olympia, one lady director was elected. It created considerable commotion in that little community among those who are opposed to woman's rights.

The Legislature of the Territory of the District of Columbia voted appropriations this year to the amount of $2,225,000. This is as much as it costs to conduct the State government of Illinois, with a population close upon 3,000,000.

The celebrated Mono mine, in Dry Canyon, has changed hands, $600,000 being the consideration. Western capitalists, through Mr. Gashwiler, were the purchasers. The Mono is thought by many persons to be the leading mine of the Territory.

Tumwater is making considerable improvement this summer. The upper bridge in the Deschutes, in that place, is being put through a thorough overhauling, and the Marshal with a gang of men on the streets is putting them in a good traveling condition.

We have authority for the statement that the two military posts, contemplated in the acts of Congress of last winter, to be established on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad, will be located, one on the Little Missouri river, and the other at or near the mouth of Powder river.

In compliance with the petition of the Prosecuting Attorney and nine hundred citizens of Clarke county, Gov. Ferry has pardoned James Jamieson out of the Penitentiary. Jamieson committed a rape in Clarke county, was tried in Olympia in 1869, convicted, and sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Western Washington Industrial Association, held Thursday, the 25th inst., it was voted to hold the next Annual Industrial Fair at Seattle, on the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th of October, 1873. Hon. Edward Eldridge of Whatcom county, was chosen Vice President in place of the late L. P. Beach.

A term of Court was held and several criminal cases tried at Silver City, a short time ago, and after the term was about through, it was decided that the grand jury was not a legal one. One of the reasons why it was decided to have been an illegal grand jury, arises from the fact that the names of the jurors were taken from the last Assessment Roll, whereas, according to the new jury law, they should have been taken from the last Poll List.

The Idaho World says: "A friend of ours, who arrived here a few days ago from California, says that Boise City may be a very fine place, like San Andreas, but on Sunday it is the 'deadest' place he ever saw. This is owing to the operation of the Sunday law, which is about the most stringent enactment for the observance of the Sabbath that was ever enforced in a western State or Territory; but as our neighbors insisted on the passage of such a law by the last Legislature, we presume that they can stand it."

A letter from Boise City to the Mountaineer, dated May 31, says: "Cold weather has become a bore. For some time past, while it has been raining in the valleys, snow has been falling on the foot-hills. Gardens nipped by untimely frosts are struggling in a cold, late spring, and present anything but a flattering appearance. Notwithstanding, wheat, oats and barley look well, and, for the first time in three years, promise an abundant yield. Grain is now selling at three and one-half cents a pound, and there is not enough in the valley to supply the demand, even at these rates. Flour is now being, and will be until after harvest, brought from Grand Ronde.

The reception of the news of the severe illness of the Czar of Russia caused a suspension of Exposition festivities at Vienna.

NEW YORK, June 6.—A car load of unusual freight passed here this evening from Charlestown, Massachusetts, for San Francisco, being a consignment of about 35,000 live fish, including several thousand young Brook trout—the rest being perch, bass, pickerel, etc. They are consigned to the California Fish Association, and will be placed in California rivers, where it is hoped they will multiply largely. The car is in charge of two men, who will keep the water at a certain temperature and change it whenever it becomes unwholesome. Very few of the fish died on the journey hither. It is thought that four-fifths of the consignment will reach San Francisco alive and well.

Disastrous Fire in Toledo.

TOLEDO, O., June 6.—A fire broke out this evening in the trunk factory of Brooks, Chase and Krafts, on St. Clair street, that threatens to be the most disastrous that has occurred here in many years. LATEST FROM THE FRONT!

Mrs. Boddy and Mrs Schira Identify the Modoc Murderers.

They Attempt to Avenge their Wrongs.

Capt. Jack in the Role of Lecturer.

BOYLE'S CAMP, TULE LAKE PENINSULA, June 6. Soon after the arrival of the Modoc prisoners in this camp General Davis sent word to the settlers resident in the Tule Lake and Lost River country that he desired them to come hither and identify the murderers in the band, and the stolen property. Among those who responded to the call were Mrs. Boddy and her daughter (Mrs. Schira), two women who were widowed by the Modocs. Messrs. Boddy and Schira took up three quarter-sections of land near the mouth of Lost river, last August, and with their families settled in the country. On the morning of November 29th Captain Jackson's command attacked Jack and his party, on Lost river, and compelled them to retire. Hooka Jim and his party were on the north side of the river from Jack, but knew of his defeat. Mr. Boddy, Mr. Schira and two sons of the Boddys were murdered by Hooka Jim and his associates during the forenoon of that day, while cutting firewood, herding sheep, etc., within a few miles of the house, and utterly [illegible] of danger. The Agent of the Yainax Reservation had promised them that any offensive movement against the Indians should be [illegible] to the settlers in time to afford the settlers ample opportunity to obtain a safe refuge. The messenger sent by the Agent failed to do his duty, as there was [illegible], and thereby [illegible] the massacre. The arrival of Mr. Boddy's team without a driver, and the marks of blood upon the wagon were the first intimation of the terrible tragedy that these poor women [illegible]. Before noon they found

The General received the women kindly [illegible]. He heard their story, assigned them a tent and promised to assist them in the recovery of their goods. MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 9, 1873

The Bogus Tickets.

The Democrats have definitely resolved not to run a party ticket, and the Holladay Republicans, with the Bulletin for their organ, have bolted the Republican organization. So it appears there will be no regular party ticket in the field, unless the Republican City Committee shall conclude to put one out. Whether they will do this remains to be seen. At their last meeting, the Committee adjourned to meet at the call of the President. We have no authoritative information on the subject, but suppose, of course, the Committee will be called together some time during the fore part of the present week.

From the slim attendance at the primaries held yesterday afternoon, under the call of the two persons who bolted the action of the Regular Republican Committee, we should suppose they and their supporters would perceive the utter hopelessness of their cause, and come back into the party where they can be useful in the future. These two persons, both very estimable citizens so far as we know, may have come to the conclusion that the Republican party has outlived its usefulness, and ought to sink out of sight with the questions that gave it birth; and so thinking, they may conscientiously consider that the overthrow of the party would do no harm to the country. If this is their opinion we can not agree with them, but we can concede their right to act as theis opinion prompts them. But even then this covert thrust, this pretending to act for the party, and at the same time inflicting the fatal stab, can hardly be justified upon any grounds. We confess our inability to perceive the necessity of running our municipal affairs upon a party basis, and we shall therefore support the ticket nominated by the Committee of Twenty-seven, and every man on that ticket, regardless of his prior political associations. But we could not under any circumstances consent to go further and organize a party in open and unquestioned hostility to the Republican party, as the Bulletin, with its two bolting committeemen and two dozen bolting followers, has apparently resolved to do. It is true that some of the principles upon which the Republican party was organized have been so far established and incorporated into the administration of the national Government as to leave little probability of their ever being again called in question; but it is true, likewise, that the party that established them is still in existence, and they who would put it away have offered no substitute that is less objectionable. So that while we agree that there is far less urgent necessity for party organizations than there was during the great civil war, we can not admit that the time has come for the entire abandonment of this organization. These bolters, we are sure, will change their minds and want a place in the old party before the next State election, unless it is true, as many believe, and with strong reason, that the Holladay faction have formed a combination with a certain wing of the Democracy for future operations in State and National politics. If this combination has been so far perfected as to render it impossible for the Holladay faction to retrace their steps, there will of course be an attempt to organize permanently a new party in the State, built upon nothing but personal attachment to the fortunes of Mr. Holladay and the hope of getting spoils through his influence. Such a party may call itself Republican or Democratic—whichever seems most likely to win—but the masses of both the parties will be found uncontrollable, and the new alliance, of which the present bolting movement is the beginning, will be an abortion in the State, as it is certain to be in the city.

Another Remarkable Case of Integrity.

Some days ago we published the facts in regard to a case in which one Squires and his son, at Tillamook, forcibly rescued from a constable some cattle which the latter had under attachment, and in order to prevent an alarm being given before they could get out of reach with the stock, kidnapped the constable and took him along with them some miles on a boat, landing him where he had no means of getting back. Of course the parties who committed these offenses were arrested upon several grave criminal charges. They are now in durance vile; but it seems they have concluded, from recent events, that all they have to do to make it all right is to aver that they have committed no crime. Accordingly the senior offender writes a letter to set himself right, in the first sentence of which he says, "I have committed no crime." He then proceeds to state the case from his stand-point at considerable length, admitting the facts charged against him, but averring his entire innocence of any wrong.

We have an idea that this sort of defence will not avail any man, high or low, either at the bar of our judicial tribunals, or at the bar of public opinion. No defense that admits the commission of the act charged, and then says that act was not criminal, will be acceptable in either case.

A Washington dispatch of June 3d says the return of Controller General Hodge of South Carolina to the petition of Morton, Bliss & Co. of New York, for a writ of mandamus to compel him to levy a tax for the payment of the public debt, which was mentioned in our dispatches a few days since, is a strong paper, and to the unprofessional eye demonstrates conclusively that the Supreme Court of the State cannot grant the writ for which the application is made. In general terms the Controller says that it is his duty to ascertain and determine the rate of taxes, and argues that the judgment of the Court, if it was had, would be void, and declares that the bonds upon which the petition was based were not lawfully hypothecated and sold, and that a large portion of them were issued without warrant of law. The Controller General also distinctly charges that bonds of the State to the amount of $7,191,700 are not a valid debt of the State and are outstanding without authority of law.

It is now said that the farmers' nominee for Justice of the Supreme Court of Illinois is more a friend to the railroads than he is to the farmers. It is asserted that he is the paid attorney of one of the principal roads, and that the Convention which nominated him was packed by the railroad ring. Craig's opponent, Judge Lawrence (now a member of the Court) is gaining in favor every day. Ex-Judge Caton and ex-Governor Palmer have written letters urging the re-election of Judge Lawrence. An Illinois paper says that "Mr. Craig's fitness for the position is questioned on all sides, while the ability and integrity of his opponent is universally conceded."

Second Ward Democratic Meeting.

The Democrats of the Second Ward met pursuant to the call of the city committee, at Goddard's Stable last Saturday evening at six o'clock, and perfected an organization by calling Wm. Strong, Esq., to the Chair. A motion was then made and carried to forego any party nominations, after which the meeting adjourned. We understand that after the adjournment of the regular Democratic Ward Meeting a few bolters, assisted by one or two persons who last fall publicly left the Democracy to gain the favor of Holladay, organized a meeting and went through the farce of electing delegates and nominating a candidate for Councilman. A more forlorn set of beaten politicians never before assembled in one corner of a horse shed than were the small handful of soreheads left last Saturday evening in the southwest corner of Lou. Goddard's livery establishment.

We understand that these ill-omened proceedings were but the counterpart of what occurred in both the other Wards. And, indeed, we are reliably informed that the soreheads could not find men enough in their party who favored this movement to make up a list of delegates, and were compelled to put men on their delegate ticket who are known to be opposed to running a party ticket. So it is quite doubtful whether there will be a so-called Democratic ticket in the field. We consider it a question of no great moment whether such a ticket, gotten up by a few sorehead politicians after the party meetings had regularly adjourned, is run or not, for such a ticket would not only have no possible show of success, but would not command votes enough seriously to offset the chances of the ticket nominated by the Committee of Twenty-seven.

A stiff-necked and perverse generation of monomaniacs hurrying on in their fierce struggle for wealth, have been assiling the Eastern skies with clamors for "Rapid Transit," which means some means of transportation through crowded thoroughfares that shall be swifter than the slow pace of the lumbering street-car. Some considerate genius has produced a plan known as "Spier's Traveling Sidewalk," which is described in the paragraph annexed:

> The plan is to build an endless movable platform on an elevated tramway, the motive power being from large steam engines underground. The "sidewalk" is to be perpetually moving up one side of the street or avenue and down the other at the rate of nineteen miles an hour. Passengers are to be taken on or off the platform by means of transfer cars, without stopping the movement of the sidewalk. The bill provides for the construction of a short section in New York city, and leaves any future extension to the approval of the Common Council.

The bill referred to has already passed the New York Senate. The crowning virtue of the system is that neither epizootic nor cerebro-spinal menengitis can prevail against it.

One would think that, after infinite wrangling in Assembly and in Committee of Seventy, the people of New York would want a surcease of charters. But we are informed that the Charter just secured, albeit it was fortified by a supplementary act dispensing liberal patronage, cannot stand the inquisitive gaze of the Committee of Seventy. At any rate, some defect (real or imagined) in the instrument, has caused the Committee to select a deputation to go to Albany and urge upon the Governor and the Legislature a bill authorizing the appointment of a commission consisting of ten leading citizens, to draft a Charter which shall provide for spring municipal elections, consolidate the city and county, restore the right to elect a comptroller;—the Charter so constructed to be submitted to the people. The deputation is also directed to advocate a bill giving the Governor power to appoint five commissioners to build a rapid transit road between Harlem and the City Hall, and directing him to submit to the people, at the next election, the question of bonding the city to pay for the enterprise.

A Vienna correspondent of the London Times narrates the following concerning the memorable panic on the Bourse, May 15th: "The dreaded settling day is over. The havoc was great. Up to 1, P M., ninety-five insolvencies had been declared. The bell which announced such events had scarcely a moment's respite from 10, A. M. It was a sort of massacre, and by 6, P. M., the number of those dispatched amounted to one hundred and twenty. Several considerable men were in the number, but almost without exception they were small men—the private soldiers of the Exchange. Many a man who had been set down previous to the crisis as worth so many hundred thousand florins, saw his hundreds of thousands vanish in thin air."

When Stratford-on-Avon celebrated her own peculiar holliday—the birthday of William Shakespeare—a little while since, a young lady (Miss Glyn) proposed the toast of the evening, "The Immortal Memory of Shakespeare," in the following eloquent little address: "Not used to speak in public, except inspired by the eloquence of Shakespeare, I have spoken to-day for three hours and three-quarters, and I think it is long enough for any one to expect an audience. Since brevity is the soul of wit, I must be brief, and I would propose the toast of the immortal memory of Shakespeare, the everlasting youth, whom age cannot wither, nor custom stale his infinite variety." It was well said.

In the suit of J. R. Osgood & Co. against Luyster & Co., of England, for an injunction to stay their sale of imported pirated works of Bret Harte, Judge Blatchford has ordered the injunction to issue as prayed for. The defense contended that an author had no legal right to claim legal protection for articles he voluntarily published and dedicated to the world; and that when such articles are so published in magazines, newspapers, etc., before they are copyrighted, they become public property. This view was not sustained.

The fight between the railroad ring and its opponents, in the Pittsburg Republican Convention, last week, was unusually warm. The latter were triumphant, however. A Liberal Republican was nominated for County Commissioner. The Legislative Convention adopted a platform endorsing Hartrauft and Grant, and denouncing the salary steal.

Attorney-General Williams has instructed counsel employed in the Credit Mobilier suits, to make application to Judge Shipley, of the United States District Court at Hartford, Connecticut, for an injunction restraining certain persons interested in the suit, from disposing of their property during the pendency of the cause.

As an example of the high figures at which some people value their sensibilities, we cite the case of a party in Chicago who has just sued the Inter-Ocean for $500,000 damages, for saying that he had married his servant girl. How keenly, then, must the servant girl suffer!

The Bulletin's Primaries.

In watching the management of political affairs in Portland for a good many years, we have never seen such an effort made to get people to attend the primary meetings as was made last Saturday by the persons who are engaged in trying to force the action of the two bolters from the Republican Committee upon the public, as the regular party proceedings. A large number of wagons were engaged, and men were employed scouring the city in every direction with these, begging any and all, regardless of party, to go and vote in the primaries. At no time in twelve years, and we presume at no time before, was so much work ever done for this purpose. Last year, the primaries were carried against the Republican party by the simple importation of as many people who were not voters in the county as was deemed necessary. An immensely large number of votes was therefore polled, mostly non-residents, who were employed for the occasion, but that was a plain simple proceeding. There was no necessity for work to get citizens to turn out. But the work last Saturday was like that ordinarily done on election day, not such as is done at primaries.

We have no definite information as to the number of votes polled. We understand those who were running the concern, claim that they had about 150 votes, while other persons who claim to have kept a pretty close tally, assert that there were not 200 votes in all the wards together. It is pretty certain that the managers of the affair got out all the votes they can expect to poll at the election. Their great effort was not made because of opposition to the ticket they had previously agreed upon, for it was set up too well for that; but it was important that they should make some showing of strength, in order to counteract the effect of their organization being a bolting concern; and hence they raked the suburbs and scraped the streets for persons who would consent to vote in their primaries. We expect, if the Republican Committee call primaries, to see them more liberally attended; but unless we greatly mistake the sentiment of the people of Portland is too strongly in favor of the ticket of the Committee of Twenty-seven, to be put down by any party nominations.

We are not to enjoy the spectacle of Henry A. Wise drawn through the streets of Richmond in an elegant barouche, followed by troops of negro processionists lustily yelling—

> "John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave, > While his soul goes marching on!"

Mr. Wise writes the Secretary of the Republican State Committee as follows: "For reasons which I need not name in this note to you, I cannot accept a nomination for the office of Governor of Virginia, from either of the present political organizations in the State—Republican or Conservative."

The Jacksonville Sentinel seems to think Senator Mitchell has proved himself the greatest man in America, by coming out and making a clean breast of it in regard to his former bad conduct. The questions naturally suggest themselves: What could he do but confess? What other course was left for him? Why did he not confess without waiting to be forced to it, if he sincerely repented? And—most important—has he confessed all, or only what he knew was already out? Wait a little and you will see.

While we cheerfully give space to Rev. Archbishop Blanchet's review of the able and scholarly sermon of the Rev. A. R. Medbury, on the inspiration of the Bible, we wish to say that we do so, wholly on the ground that an article from so high a source, on such a subject, can not but be interesting to the general reader, whatever may be his views as to the correctness of the Archbishop's position, and notwithstanding such a discussion is hardly within the scope commonly allotted to an ordinary newspaper.

Even in Massachusetts a long-winded body of useless legislators come to be despised of men. There is this iniquitous thrust at the intelligence of the General Court now in session: "The present Legislature is the most stupid one which we have ever had; it doesn't know enough to go home." That is the wicked Post. Thus saith the Advertiser: "The grass on the State House lawn was mowed yesterday. Isn't it about time for the legislators to do a little mowing at home?"

A Washington dispatch of the 31st says: "All the members of the Cabinet were present to-day, except Secretary Belknap. The President stated that he would leave here with family on Thursday for Long Branch, to spend the summer, but would return every two or three weeks to transact any business which might require his attention in Washington."

The West Coast Signal of May 28th says that the Humboldts recently started on the war-path to avenge the death of a Chief, Captain Sam, who had been slain by the Klamaths. They have laid five or six of the latter tribe in their little lava beds, to rise no more, and it is thought that a war of extermination will result.

It would be interesting to know what position Senator Mitchell will occupy on the measures for the suppression of polygamy in Utah.

The Grand Lodge of Free Masons of New York met June 3d.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Guardian says: "Settlers arrive by every steamer to settle in the beautiful valley of the Fraser."

The Tigers of Victoria are going to awaken the echoes with a new steel fire bell, which they have ordered from England at a cost of $500.

The settlers on the South Arm have prepared a petition to the Government for the survey of the road from the Gulf of Georgia to New Westminster.

The Colonist says ex Mayor Harris of Victoria has been appointed Deputy District Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. of British Columbia.

A New Westminster paper complains bitterly of the fair-promises and do nothing policy of the Government with respect to the Semiahmoo trail affair, and suggests an indignation meeting.

The new buildings and repairs to the old buildings on the dockyard are to be commenced immediately at Esquimalt. It was first intended to await the arrival of Admiral Hilyar, but a doubt is now felt of his coming here at all this year.

A letter from Mr Nathan, dated Ottawa, May 15th, says that the news received from Sir Hugh Allan up to that date was of the most favorable character, that the scheme, being a large one, could not be floated in a day; and that British Columbia need have no fear—the Canadian Pacific road would be built.

The New Westminster Herald says "An official item shows that as many land claims were taken up in this district during April and May as had been taken up during the whole of the previous year, and the cry is still 'They come.' This is very encouraging, and goes to prove what we have frequently asserted—that New Westminster District has in itself all the elements of prosperity."

Puget Sound Correspondence

SEATTLE, May 26, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Thinking a few items concerning Seattle, her prospects present and future, as well as situation, might be of interest to your many readers, I am induced to write you, knowing, also, that this place is regarded by many here and elsewhere as the future terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, which will give additional interest to Seattle and surroundings. Nor is it at all surprising that this place should be favorably regarded by many as the future metropolis of this Northwest coast, when we glance at the natural advantages claimed. That the facilities for harborage are very superior, will not be doubted for a moment by those who are acquainted with the facts. There is not on the Pacific coast a place possessed of greater advantages in this all important particular. Seattle is situated on an eminence looking out on the Bay or Sound, and impresses the visitor very favorably when approaching it. The city fronts upon the water west, which sweeps around it on the south, where the White or Duwamish river empties into the bay. Immediately behind the city (that is to say, within one mile and a half), lies

LAKE WASHINGTON,

A beautiful sheet of water, from twelve to fifteen miles in length, and from one and a half to two miles in width. In depth, it is all the way from seventy five to two hundred feet, and forms the means of transportation for the coal of the Seattle Coal Company the greater portion of the way from the mines to salt water. Following Lake Washington north, we arrive at the "portage," which divides Lake Washington from Lake Union, and is nearly one quarter of a mile across.

LAKE UNION,

Is not so large as Lake Washington, and is within one mile of Seattle, due north. Over it, also, the coal of the mines here is transported, after which a narrow track railroad, in which a very small engine is used, hauls the coal to the bay.

Right across the bay from Seattle is Freeport, where is the mill of J. R. Williamson. This mill, though not so large as many on the Sound, does a great deal of work, and ships are constantly loading there for all parts of the world. Here, Yesler's mill, beside supplying the local demand for lumber, sends large quantities to San Francisco and elsewhere. Seattle is rapidly growing in population, and new buildings, residences and business houses can be counted by the dozen. Although, in common with all parts of the coast, money is tight and business dull, already are prospects brightening, and within the next month or two, everything will be cheerful and business lively. Our population exceeds two thousand, and the amount of business done at this point will more than treble that of any other port in the Territory. There is, nor can be, no doubt that Seattle will be at least for several years, if not always, a chief and principal place of interest of Washington Territory.

To change both subject and locality, and give a brief account of a terrible tragedy which occurred on the San Juan Island within the past two weeks would be a digression pardonable. On the Island lived a Capt. Dwyer and wife, who had not been married over a year, who were both found dead—he in the field, where he had been at work plowing, and she in the house. When found, some two days after the terrible deed, the horses were attached to the plow, the reins about his shoulders, and he lying in the furrow. His wife was found in the house, shot through the side and arm, covered with blood, and lying near her bed. Near her were some garments for her expected babe, as she would soon have been a mother. Indians are suspected of having committed this fiendish crime, though, as in all cases of a like nature, there are conflicting opinions as to who are the guilty parties, whether Indians or white men. The people of San Juan and Victoria have offered $1,250 for the apprehension of the murderers. It is nothing more than bare justice that the Governor of this Territory make a like offer, so that, if possible, the perpetrators of this hellish deed be brought to feel the hangman's halter. The people of San Juan Island are fearful for their personal safety; they have no protection, civil or military, and at the time of this murder not a man on that Island had the right to apprehend and hold whoever might have been suspicioned. On this same Island, some months ago, a man was murdered. Indians were thought to have committed the deed; were arrested and, through the negligence of the military officers and civil authorities, they were allowed to be discharged without a trial. It is no wonder that the inhabitants of San Juan are alarmed and dissatisfied with the present unsafe situation.

The New York Tribune says that Mr. Geo. S. Phillips, a most amiable and kindly gentleman, well known to magazine readers under his nom de plume of "January Searle," has been removed to the Asylum for the Insane, at Trenton, N. J. Mr. P. is the author of "The Gypsies of the Dane's Dyke."

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 9, 1873

LIABLE TO PAY.—In an agreed case which was submitted to Judge Deady last Monday, between Shipping Commissioner H. L. Hoyt and the Oregon [illegible]-ship Company, it was held that the [illegible] of the steamer Geo. S. Wright—Oregon [illegible] Company—was liable to pay to the Shipping Commissioner the wages due the Master and crew of that vessel up to the time of the loss of the steamer. The total amount of the wages was about $384. According to the law, the Ship[illegible] is required to pay over the [illegible] to the Circuit Court, where it is held as a deposit for the benefit of whom it may concern—sub[illegible] relatives and friends. Upon the proper [illegible] being made to the Court, such proportion of the money as may be due the applicant is paid out. If no application is made for the money, within six years, from the time it was [illegible], it then passes to the fund for the [illegible] and maintenance of indigent and disabled [illegible].

GOOSEBERRIES.—Mr. H. W. Prettyman, proprietor of the Railroad Nursery, laid on our table [illegible] a branch heavily loaded with gooseberries. The branch is very small and slender, but it is so fruitful that it resembled a clustered [illegible] a leaf being visible—mass of these berries. Two hundred large, plump, juicy berries at least were clinging to the limb, which was not more than a foot in length. Mr. Prettyman informs us that the branch was broken from a bush of the Champion species, consisting of a cross between the English and ordinary gooseberry. [illegible] of that species in his nursery produced 71 gallons of the berry and brought the sum of $50, when sold.

IN TROUBLE.—The Pittsburg Leader of a recent date has this: "Edith O'Gormon, the 'Escaped Nun,' was once escorted from her hotel in Providence, R. I., to a spot outside the city limits by [illegible] of citizens. Edith occupied that [illegible] of vehicle commonly known as a dray, and she sat upon her trunk on the way out of town. Her escort politely informed her that if she showed her face inside that town again, she would be furnished with a coat of tar and feathers [illegible]. LAND TITLES, ARRESTS, ETC.

Time marks another event in the history of land titles in Portland. We refer to matters connected with the Caruthers claim, covering the southern portion of the city, which have been pretty thoroughly canvassed on the streets for a day or two past. Hints have been thrown out for several days that certain developments would soon be made which would astonish some of the people who thought they understood all about and everything connected with the history of the one and the identity of the other. And on last Friday matters began, sure enough, to become public.

A COMPLAINT

was filed in Justice's court for Couch Precinct, before L. Anderson, J. P., charging James M. Moore of Oregon City, and Green C. Davidson of Salem, with subornation of perjury in procuring one James C. Nixon to swear falsely, that his real name was Joseph Thomas.

WARRANTS

For the arrest of Messrs Moore and Davidson were issued, and on Saturday Mr. Davidson was

ARRESTED

At Salem, and Mr. Moore at Oregon City. They were brought to this city the same day, taken before the Justice and held under bonds of $2,000 to appear for examination on to-morrow (Tuesday) morning.

VARIOUS REPORTS

Are current, but we forbear to comment on them lest we might prejudice public sentiment in some way to the damage of innocent parties. We might say, however, that it is claimed that the wife and daughter of James C. Nixon, who has been known as "Wrestling Joe," are now in the city, having arrived here some ten days ago from Mobile, Alabama. Whether this is a well founded claim we do not pretend to judge, and await the investigation in the courts of the country before we state further of the matter. In the meantime we deem it a matter of regret that the title to these lands should be so long and so often subjected to clouds.

PICNICS.

Last Saturday morning a large number of children, connected with the First Presbyterian Church of this city, accompanied by parents and friends, took the splendid steamer Annie Stewart, bound for the picnic grounds opposite Canemah. The steamer left the wharf at the foot of Alder street, and passing up through the locks without difficulty, arrived at the grounds. Here lunch was spread, to which all were able to render ample justice. After lunch, several hours were spent in various innocent games in which the little (and big folks, too) joined with the keenest relish. In the afternoon the steamer returned to the city with its precious cargo of humanity. It was a gala day with the little folks—one which will long be recollected, and treasured up with a kindly remembrance.

The pupils, teachers and friends of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary embarked on the steamer Oneonta at 8 o'clock on last Saturday morning, bound on an excursion trip to the Cascades. The excursionists numbered about four hundred. After about five hours' steaming the Lower Cascades was reached. At that point the excursionists disembarked and repaired to the shady woods to spend an hour or two. Before the Cascades was reached the excursionists were through lunch, as the long ride had sharpened the appetites of all. At about half-past 3 o'clock the steamer started to return. Four hours' steaming, past some of the wildest and most sublime scenery on the continent, brought the Oneonta back to her wharf, with all on board safe and sound, and in the best of spirits. The excursion was of a select character, and was one of the most pleasurable and enjoyable affairs of the season. The day was warm, bright and delightful, the scenery grand and unsurpassed, and the ride exhilarating. Everything went smoothly along, and the result was that everybody came home happy.

SERMON OF REV. A. R. MEDBURY REVIEWED.

To the Editor of The Oregonian

The so-called sermon, lately delivered by Rev. A. R. Medbury, before the Bible Union of this State, and found in the columns of your daily, may appear a learned and important lecture to superficial readers, but not so to the literati. As the errors and misstatements it contains ought not to remain unnoticed, and since they have been propagated through the medium of your paper, I beg to be allowed, through the same method, to review it and make some pertinent remarks for a correction.

2. And first, in my opinion, the Rev. lecturer did not show himself very judicious in the choice of his text "Amen, I say, unto you, till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall not pass of the law, till all be fulfilled" (Cath. B., St. Math. v, 18,) because it bears against him, for as Christ built His church upon a rock with the promise that the gates of hell shall not prevail against it, and as even one jot "of this promise shall not pass without being fulfilled," it evidently follows that neither new, nor chance, nor room was left for the so called "glorious reformation."

3. The Rev. lecturer speaks of "God's miraculous inspiration of the Holy Word." Since this operation is a fundamental point, and as he has nothing but the Bible as a rule of faith to prove it, I earnestly entreat him to point out to me, in the Holy Book, the happy text proving "God's miraculous," or even "God's simple inspiration" of the Bible. Where does the Holy Book say "I am inspired," and even "miraculously inspired?" We prove the inspiration of the sacred Scriptures by the unwritten word of God or tradition, the first, and original rule of faith, which Protestants reject, and who thereby reject the sole foundation of the unwritten Word.

4. I agree with the Rev. lecturer, when he speaks of "the danger of the Holy Scripture" being corrupted, mutilated and falsified, "that would naturally arise from translations and versions made" by unlearned and incompetent men. I take note of this candid avowal, and say that if Wickliffe, Tyndale and others met with opposition at the hands of of Kings, Queens and Popes, it was for no other reasons. Their object was to prevent the diffusion of books mutilated, perverted and falsified by heretics, in support of their new broached and false doctrines, which had for tendency the disturbance of peace and good order, both in the Church and State. Can this justly be called a tyranny? Are our laws to be considered as tyrannous because they forbid the sale and diffusion of immoral and licentious books and severely punishes their authors? Is Christ intolerant because He says: "He that believeth not, shall be condemned!" (St. Mark xvi 16.) If not, why then call the Church tyrannous, when she uses her imprescriptible and divine right for the preservation of the Word of God?

5. To say that "the Old Testament Scriptures were rendered into several different languages both before and after the advent of Christ," is not correct as to the time before Christ, for they were rendered but once, from Hebrew into Greek by the Septuagint, under the reign of Ptolamie Philadelph, 272 years before Christ; but that is true with regard to the time after Christ, this candid affirmation at the hands of the Rev. lecturer bears beautifully well in favor of the Catholic Church and pretty hard against him and those who falsely and repeatedly accuse her of keeping the holy scriptures out of the hands of the people.

6. I have another painful duty to perform in finding fault with the erroneous statement of the Rev. lecturer, when he says: "The personal ministry of Christ and His Apostles on earth gave the world the New Testament, "as if Christ had ever written any part of Holy Scripture, and the Gospel had been propagated—from the beginning of the Church—by the written word of the New Testament. This is a false insinuation, to arrive at the conclusion that the Bible or written Word of God should be the only basis of Christain doctrine. The fact is that Christ never wrote anything at all, unless perhaps the sins of the Pharisees with His finger upon the dust. (St. John viii. 6.) It does not even appear that He gave His Apostles any command to write the Gospel, though He repeatedly and emphatically commanded them to preach it, (St. Matt. 10) and this to all the nations of the earth. (St. Matt. 28:19.) Neither can this assertion be true with regard to all the Apostles, since only five out of eleven—St. Matthew, St. John, St. Peter, St. James and St. Jude, did write a small portion of it, whereas the larger portion was written by St. Mark, a disciple of St. Peter; by St. Luke, a disciple of St. Paul, and by St. Paul himself.

7. Faithful to the Divine commission, the Apostles went forth preaching the Gospel to all nations. If in two sermons St. Peter converted eight thousand to the faith, how many untold thousands must have been taught of God, before the completion of the New Testament; nay, before any written word was in existence, since the Gospels of St. Matthew, St. Mark, St. Luke and St. John were respectively written nine, ten, twenty-three and sixty seven years after the Ascension of our Lord; the fourteen Epistles of St. Paul came forth from his inspired pen from nineteen to thirty three years after our Lord's Ascension; those of St. Peter, fifteen; of St. John, sixty five; the Catholic Epistles of St. James, twenty-nine, the Catholic epistle of St. Jude, about thirty seven; the Apocalypse of St. John, sixty-five. The church was then, fully established before the original copies of the written word of the New Testament were in existence, and "the personal ministry of Christ and his Apostles" did not consist in sifting and writing down the inspired word, but in "going and teaching all nations. The precious word of life eternal had, then, a living existence in the minds and hearts of the Apostles, and their immediate successors, before it ever became a dead letter in the hands of the Wickliffes, Tyndales and Coverdales, subject to interpolation, mistranslations and mutilations,—sad effects springing from ignorance or prejudice. This is so true that to "stand fast" in faith, we must, as St. Paul writes to the Thessalonians, "hold the traditions which you have learned, whether by word or by our epistles."—2 Thesal. ii., 14

8. The translations made by Wyckliffe were to suit his heretical doctrines; the versions of Lutheran Tyndale, Calvinist Coverdale and Queen Elizabeth's Bishops were so notoriously corrupt as to cause a general outcry against them not only among Catholics, but among learned Protestants as well. King James, in compliance with the Millinary petition, ordered a new version of it; which, with the exception of a few alterations introduced after the Restoration, is that existing under the name of King James' Bible. But is that version perfect? To this question the learned Dr. Milner, author of the "End of Controversy," Letter IX, parag. III, answers as follows: "Though these new translations have corrected many willful errors of their predecessors, most of which were levelled at Catholic doctrines and discipline, yet they have left a sufficient number of them behind for which I do not find that their advocates offer any excuse whatever." And this charge, instead of being contradicted, is strongly corroborated and acknowledged by the simple fact of a new translation talked of and set on foot for "the revision of this grand old Bible, once given from the hand of God," (!!) in which plan the Rev. lecturer joins heartily, saying, "And, for one, I say, Amen; there are reasons for revision" (!!). And, lo, this is the Bible so much praised and talked of! This is the Bible which they would impose upon us! The Bible which, with all its imperfections and faults, the "Bible Society" cause to be printed and distributed, at enormous expense, all over the world, for the propagation of faith! Cannot our friends, with all their talents and learning, see the irregularity and impropriety of such conduct?

9. If I have been somewhat severe in the vindication of most important truths, I hasten to acknowledge the judicious impartiality of the reverend lecture in admitting that "the best translation of both books (Old and New Testament) is that of the 'Latin Vulgate.'" There existed in the Church, among many others, a Latin copy of the Holy Scriptures, made imperfect, no doubt, by the transcribers, or in some other way. Pope Damasus, desiring to preserve for the future times and irrevocably to fix the text of the sacred Scriptures, and knowing that St Jerome, master of Latin, Greek and Hebrew, and the most learned man of his age, and the most competent for the task, he caused him, in 382, to correct that old copy and furnish an exact translation from the originals. Hence our "Latin Vulgate." Venerable Bede, about 710, and others later, kept busy for its translations in various languages. The pious monks multiplied these copies, in their own different countries, until the discovery of the art of printing by a Catholic (Guttenberg), at Metz, about 1451. The reverend lecturer acknowledges also the fact "that the first book ever printed by movable types was a 'Latin Bible.'" But these honorable admissions are unfortunately lost in the midst of a lot of noisy denunciations against the Catholic Church.

10. Is it not strange to see a daily reader of the Bible ascribe the inspiration of the Holy Word to "our Savior," when its inspiration is attributed to the Holy Ghost, "the spirit of truth," according to St. Peter?—"The holy men of God spake, inspired by the Holy Ghost." 2 St. Peter, i., 5.

11. "We feel deep interest in knowing how God's hand and care have been manifest in the translations and revision of His written Word, and in the wonderful care and perpetuation of it," says the reverend lecturer. Yes, indeed, but not, through Protestantism—which did not exist—but through the Church of the living God, built upon a rock. The inspired Word was her child, she religiously received it, and took a great care of it, as being an infallible witness to her Divine institutions. She it was that had the copies of the Holy Word reviewed, corrected and multiplied, thereby preserving and perpetuating them, from age to age, about 1,500 years before Protestants existed. She, it was that, choosing the best copies, settled the canon of the Vulgate, just as it stands, in a council at Carthage in 397.

12. The Church was first, the written Word came afterward. Christ our Lord preached His holy doctrine, the Apostles, obeying His command, did the same. That was the unwritten Word, the first and sole rule of faith in the beginning. Some of the Apostles and disciples were inspired to write the history of the unwritten Word, that was the written Word, the second rule of faith, whose sole foundation and first corner stone is the unwritten Word. The former did not destroy the latter, but came to its support, in favor of the Church. Such is the origin and history of the written Word, which the reverend lecturer has failed to give in his history of the Bible, though so interesting.

13. Now let us see on what occasions the inspired wrote. St. Matthew wrote his Gospel at the request of the Christians of Palestine, St. Mark composed his at the desire of those of Rome, St. Luke addressed his to an individual, Theophilus, having written it "because it seemed good to him to do so. (St. Luke, i, 3.) St. John wrote the last of the Gospels in compliance with the petition of the clergy and people of the Lesser Asia, to prove, in particular, the Divinity of Jesus Christ, which Corinthus, Ebion and others began to deny. St. Paul penned his fourteen Epistles according to the wants and occurrences of different churches, without any premeditated designs of reducing to writing or giving a body of the maxims and truth which he had preached. In the same manner, the other Apostles that have left us any instructions in writing penned their Epistles for the edification and instruction of the churches to which they were addressed. The four Gospels are four infallible witnesses to the unwritten Word of God, coming many years after the ascension of our Lord, when the Church was progressing before the faithful that had not seen the Lord, to tell them what He had done and taught, and to bear testimony, by the inspired writing, to the Divine institution and existence of the Church; and all this for the comfort and satisfaction of all the future generations. Two of the four Evangelists, St. Matthew and St. John, depose to what they have seen, the other two, St. Mark and St. Luke, depose to what they have heard.

14. Having touched the principal points of the lecture, and completed the history of the Bible and the origin of the New Testament, I conclude by giving many thanks for the large space granted.

At least 300 persons assembled to witness the match, which the Pioneer Club and many spectators had calculated upon resulting in favor of the Pioneers by at least ten runs. Mr. R. Bird having been chosen umpire, at 2 o'clock the game was commenced—the Pioneers going to the bat. After the Pioneers had received a blank in the second inning, and the Pacifics running up ten runs, the expectations of most of those present were somewhat dampened, it being evident that the little fellows were about to "take the starch out" of their much praised opponents, and, as the result will show, did it handsomely.

The playing of the Pacifics throughout could scarcely have been improved upon. At every point they played perfectly, and each member understood just what was required of him. Matthews, Oliver, Henderson, Austin, Deady and Cushing—the former particularly—deserve the greatest honor for the manner in which they played in their several positions. On the other side the playing generally was simply bad, with the exception of Whiting, first base, Gearing, in the field, and Lowndsdale, short stop. Gearing took in all the flies that came within his reach, and Lowndsdale's catch of a hot ball from the bat received, as it deserved, much applause.

Too many changes were made, which showed weakness, and all will admit that had the nine kept their positions as they held them in the second inning, the result would not have been so disastrous to them. We have urged the steady practice of the first nine, and, had they carried out our suggestions, the sprightly boys of the Pacifics would have had a different story to tell. Daily practice—say after 6 o'clock P. M., until the day of the second game (21st)—will bring them up to the standard.

Several changes will be required in the disposition of the nine, to insure better success. The grounds are not fit to play upon, and we suggest that more open space be selected.

We would like to speak at length of the game, but our space will not permit.

Home Runs—Sutton and Northrup.

Time of Game—One hour and thirty minutes.

The game was really more interesting than those played between the Rustlers and Pacific. The crowd was surprised to see such a small set of boys come to play a club composed almost wholly of men. Such was the delight of the young ladies that, after the close of the game, they presented Capt. Sutton a beautiful bouquet through Prof. Macrum. Dinner was served by several ladies in Literary Hall, and the boys enjoyed it very much. The return game will be played here.

The game between the College and Coasters Clubs, on Saturday at Salem, resulted in favor of the former—51 to 9.

On Saturday—Occidental, 22; Young America, 13.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldmann's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

COLEMANS Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining EUCALYPTUS

all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.

Beware of imitations, and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere and by Hodge, Calef & Co., Wholesale Druggists, Portland, Sole Agents for Oregon.

The Wrong Arrow.

I have read a fabled story
Of two meeting in a cave,
One was Death, so old and hoary,
One was Cupid, young and brave.

In the night some mischief-maker
Mixed their arrows through and through,
And, so fairy-like they make her,
She woke neither of the two.

In the morning, as they parted,
Each his journey to pursue,
Cupid, light and joyous hearted,
Soon found work enough to do.

He met a youth and blooming maiden—
Through each heart an arrow sped;
But so still, so stiff, it made them,
"What can I have done?" he said

While the other sped his arrow
At a man of silver hair.
He was married on the morrow
To a maiden young and fair.

"Well, for once," said he, "I've missed it,
What's the matter with my bow
That old man—who could have guess'd it—
But I'll aim another blow."

In this manner Death and Cupid
At poor mortals take their aim;
I am sure they must be stupid,
Or they'd get their own again. C. E. O

A Drowning Man's Sensations.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, treating of the bridge accident at Dixon, Illinois, says:

After many hours spent in inquiry, the right individual was at length found, in the person of Dr Hoffman, who was taken out of the river when in an unconscious condition and full of water. He was able to come down to his office this morning, although he had a gash about three inches long in his head. He is very weak yet; but, notwithstanding the shock to his nervous system and the mental depression caused by the loss of his wife, he gave a very interesting account of his narrow escape from drowning. Your correspondent interviewed him this morning, particularly with reference to his sensations while under the water, and learned from him what is subjoined:

"My wife and I went to see the baptism of the converts, and took up a position on the bridge about thirty feet from the first pier and between it and the abutment. We were surrounded by people—men, women and children. Suddenly, while Mr. Pratt was entering the water with a female, I heard a report similar to that made by a small cannon, and in an instant the water closed over me, and I felt that something was pressing me down. A heavy weight appeared to be over me. I did not sink to the bottom. I was perfectly conscious, and immediately thought of getting out, if possible. My hands came in contact with the trestle-work, and, crawling up, as if ascending a ladder, I was fortunate in finding an opening, through which I crawled, and immediately arose to the surface. I was then, as near as I can judge, about seventy or eighty feet from the shore. I swam toward the bank; but when near it my strength gave out, and I sank. While swimming, some person, who must have been under the water, caught hold of my left leg, and grasped tight for a minute, preventing me from going forward. The person let go as suddenly as he had taken hold, and I gave a stroke or two, when I encountered a dress. Thinking it was my wife, who was standing beside me when the span fell, I grabbed it; but, having become enervated, I was obliged to let it go. I was almost exhausted at the time, and do not know that the dress was that of my wife. I did not notice it particularly. My thoughts were almost solely confined to her, and I imagined when I saw the dress it was hers.

"When I sank I was still sensible of the surroundings. I went apparently very close to the bottom. The current rolled me over and over, and my hands frequently came in contact with the gravel. I could feel the water running down my throat and in my ears, and all at once experienced the most delightful sensations. I seemed to be at peace with everything and perfectly happy. My whole life passed before me like a flash of lightning, the events appearing in sequence, the most prominent appearing to be indelibly impressed upon my mind. Circumstances I had forgotten appeared vividly, and I did not want to be disturbed. I should have preferred to remain where I was. While in the midst of this ecstatic reverie, thinking what my wife would do if she were saved and I drowned, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I was pulled out and placed on a rock. I was almost insensible, but gradually came to myself. Oh! how sick and wretched I felt.

After remaining on the rock about an hour, I was taken to my home. Here I commenced vomiting, and frequently ejected water and partially digested food until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. I was taken out of water about 600 feet below the bridge. I was very thirsty after vomiting, and tried to drink some water, but the taste was so disagreeable that I could not bear it. The only way that I could quench my thirst was by putting vinegar into the water, about an ounce and a half to a quarter of a pint. This struck me as a rather curious circumstance. I was greatly astonished at the number of events that passed through my mind while under the water. Nothing that occurred during childhood was evident; but everything since I was about nineteen years old appeared before me as if photographed. The sensation I experienced while the water was going down my throat was not unpleasant. It seemed as if I was going on a journey, and was surrounded by all kinds of beautiful things. While on the rock I felt very bad and desired to be let alone. The sudden transition from the beatific state in the water to the dry land seemed to have a bad effect, and made me indifferent to what was going on around me. Several people came to me and wanted to take me home; but I told them to let me alone, I was so miserable. The corpse of my wife was found after she had been in the water about three hours. It is said that Mrs. Hoffman's countenance was lighted up with a life-like smile, so peaceful and suggestive of such pleasant thoughts when dying that everybody's attention was attracted to her.

MacMahon's Leap for Life.

THRILLING INCIDENT IN THE CAREER OF THE NEW PRESIDENT OF FRANCE.

In 1831 MacMahon, then a young lieutenant serving in the French army in Algeria, under command of Marshal Bugeaud, was stationed with a small company of men at an outlying settlement, forty miles from head quarters. The Arabs, then bitterly hostile to the new colonists, besieged the small fort, slaughtered all the settlers they could catch, intercepted all supplies and brought the little garrison to the very verge of starvation. Capitulation was not to be thought of, for that meant immediate slaughter. Help from the Marshal was not to be expected, for he was quite unaware of their danger; in fact, all hope seemed lost when MacMahon volunteered to be the bearer of dispatches announcing their predicament. The Commandant thought the venture perfectly useless, as the intervening country was absolutely alive with infuriated Arabs, but being aware that help must come in that manner if it came at all, he reluctantly consented to what he considered at the time was the desperate sacrifice of a valuable life.

MacMahon, perfectly overjoyed at gaining consent to his enterprise, spent the short time intervening before his start in looking carefully to the equipment of his horse and to his own accoutrements, and in the first hour of darkness he set out brisk, blithe and debonnaire as ever gay young soldier on parade with bright eyes gazing on his splendor. The wily Arabs, seldom caught unaware, soon noted his departure, and followed hard and fast in his rear; but seeing that his course lay toward a broad and deep ravine some five miles from the post, they spread out widely, hoping to outflank him when he should be compelled to turn at the brink, and so, securing him alive, learn from him under torture all those particulars concerning the French forces which they wanted to obtain. MacMahon, who had in the first mile or two easily distanced them, understood their plan thoroughly and was prepared to meet it. He looked back and saw in the moonlight the constantly increasing crowd of white-clad warriors, spreading out in a wide semi-circle behind him. He knew well how they exulted in the thought that they would wring from his tortured frame all the secrets they wanted to know, and he quietly slackened a little the headlong speed of his horse, in order to reserve its strength for the effort he had determined upon, that should—he hoped—save life and liberty. The Arabs, thinking that his horse was already failing, renewed their efforts to overtake and surround him, and by the time he had reached within a few hundred yards of the brink, their shouts of triumph were clearly audible. But Arabs, as well as other men, sometimes count their chickens before they are hatched, and so it proved that they had done in this case. They had headed him almost to the brink of the dreadful chasm, and followed hard behind, certain of an easy capture, when, all of a sudden, obedient to the master's resolute hand upon the rein, the horse broke into a swift gallop, and, with a touch from the spur, a flick from the glove and an encouraging word from the well-known voice, gallant steed and gallant rider cleared the yawning gap, and landing safely on the opposite side, were out of sight of the enraged Arabs before they could get the slightest chance of taking even a deliberate aim. In two hours more MacMahon stood before his astounded chief, and two hours after that, refusing rest and relief, he accompanied the aid he had risked his life to procure on its way to his beleaguered comrades.

A New York Bear Story

HOW A GRIZZLY ASTONISHED SEVERAL PEOPLE IN NEW YORK.

The mania for practical jokes in this city appears to be on the increase. The latest instance furnishes a most interesting bear story. On Wednesday last a gentleman called at the box office of Wallack's Theatre and asked Mr. Theodore Moss, the Treasurer, if he would like to have a little bear. Mr. Moss thought that such a pet would be a very nice addition to his family, and desired by all means that little Bruin be sent to his house. The following day the family in the Moss mansion were astounded and considerably frightened by the arrival of a huge bear, fully grown, and about ten or twelve years of age. The bear was marched into the yard, and a hurried summons sent for the Wallackian Treasurer, who at once saw that he had been badly hoaxed.

Like everybody else in such a predicament, Mr. Moss naturally wished to get rid of his "little" bear, and at the same time enjoy the joke at somebody else's expense. He accordingly wandered into the Shakespeare restaurant, near his theatre, and asked the proprietor, Mr. Flynn, if he would like to have a little bear. Mr. Flynn, being fond of curiosities, jumped at the proposal and fell into the trap. In due time the huge and ungainly brute was marched into the Shakespeare saloon, where he made a decided impression by incontinently knocking down two unsuspecting customers by his uncouth gambols. A scene of rare confusion at once followed, and the bear managed affairs so well that he succeeded in smashing a quantity of glassware and throwing the barkeeper into fits. Before the bear could be subdued, he forced his way through a passage into Gibson's candy store, where he coolly regaled himself with confectionery. The female attendants were terribly frightened by the apparition, and were only calmed by the appearance of two stalwart members of the Broadway Squad, who captured the monster in the most approved fashion.

In due time the bothersome bear was escorted back to Mr. Moss' house, a proceeding which led the treasurer to inquire if he would like to have a little bear. Now, Mr. Sothern is one of the most innocent and unsuspecting of men, and as the idea was a novel one, he thought a young bear would be something nice to have, and, accordingly, he in turn received a visit from the shaggy and rolicsome animal. When the bear arrived Mr. Sothern was quietly reading in his apartments at the Gramercy Park Hotel, and he suddenly discovered that the book did not interest him any longer, and also that he had been made the victim of a hoax, which of all things in this world he most objects to, though rumor has it that he likes to perpetrate them. Of course the bear could not stay at the Gramercy Park Hotel, so Mr. Sothern sent the brute to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where he was demurely led into the apartment of Miss Neilson, the actress. Here the bear's adventures ended so far as record goes, and it is not exactly clear where his highness is domiciled at present, though it is said that the female employes in the hotel threaten to go on a strike if the house be not speedily rid of the intruder. Probably Banum will get him next for his mammoth show.—N. Y. Times.

A TURTLE STORY.—A Kentucky paper narrates that, as a gentleman was crossing a mill pond in Allen county, a few days since, in a canoe, he was attacked by a turtle of extensive proportions. The turtle, approaching with his mouth open, was repulsed by several blows with a paddle, but immediately returned the attack, when he was again driven off, and the man permitted to land in safety. The paper says the head of this beast was four inches wide, his back two and half feet, and his tail as large as a man's arm. We do not say, adds an exchange, that it is a lie, but we say it is the biggest fresh water turtle we ever heard of.

The Wool Market Again.

The Commercial Reporter of this week gives the cost of handling and shipping Wool until delivered in New York. It is from here 5¾ cents per pound. This includes sacks, grading and draying, but does not include insurance. After delivery East, then storage and another drayage is added. The charge for selling Wool East, is 6 per cent. commission. All quotations East are in greenbacks. Our quotations are for this market, not points in the interior, and wool-growers must not lose sight of this fact. Each steamship from California continues to bring Wool for the Willamette Woolen Mills, but it is of finer grade than the Oregon grown. Our market is quotable as follows: Clips from east of the Cascades, clean; long and free from alkali, 18@21c, inferior and ordinary, 10@15c; clips west of the Cascades, clean, long stapled, 20@22½c; other grades, 15@20c ℔ pound. These quotations are for clips delivered here.

New York mail advices to May 24th report as follows:

Quite an active trade succeeded the quietness noticed in the early part of the week, and prices have been stiffly held. The assortment of fleeces—which description at the moment seems to occupy the attention of manufacturers—is very poor, and the supply unusually light for this season. No new Western is expected before July, and by that time, in all probability, the saleable portion of the present stock will be exhausted. Foreign is in moderate demand, and prices remain steady. Considerable quantities of Montevideo are arriving, but sell slowly, the prices being about 34 cents. The Patriot arrived at Boston from Algoa Bay, with 100 bales Wool and 360 bundles Sheepskins. There are no vessels loading or sailed from the Cape for New York.

The Philadelphia Commercial List May 24th, reports as follows the Philadelphia market:

The market is firm at previous quotations, without, however, much activity. The supply of old Wool is quite light, but this seems to be counter-balanced by the near approach of the new clip in the regulating of prices at present, so that while no serious decline need be anticipated on one, no material advance can be looked for on the other, for the remainder of this month at least. Whether prices hereafter will maintain the present prevailing range, or become subject to further depression, must depend more or less upon the liberal receipts of new Wool.

TO THE TAX-PAYERS OF THE CITY OF PORTLAND.

The Portland Water Company take this method of defining their position on the purchase of their works by the city of Portland:

On the 25th day of April, 1872, this company received a communication from Messrs. W. S. Ladd, J. B. Congle, C. H. Lewis and S. G. Reed, sub committee on water supply, appointed by the Mayor, asking the question:

"Will you dispose of your works to the city of Portland? and if so, you will state price, terms, etc."

Our answer was, we would sell, and the price, three hundred thousand dollars, to be paid as specified.

Again, the Committee on Fire and Water called on us at our office, saying they came in accordance with a resolution passed by the Common Council, on the 5th of February, to confer with us as to the purchase of our works by the city, to ascertain the price, and report to the Council at their earliest convenience. This company named the same price, viz.: $300,000, that had been named to the former committee, two hundred and forty thousand dollars coin, and the city to assume the payment of sixty thousand dollars currency bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, payable in July, 1880.

The committee made their report to the Common Council on the evening of February 18, 1873, from which report we copy the latter portion, viz.:

We have been permitted to examine the income of the Water Company for the years 1870, 1871 and 1872, from rents of water, and from them we learn that the receipts would pay the interest on the bonds, the cost of operating the works, and have a considerable surplus, while the rents could be lowered one fourth the present rates, and still pay rents sufficient to pay interest and cost of operating; thus giving to our citizens cheaper water, which is a matter greatly to be desired.

The increase of population in the city will increase the rents, and cheaper rates will increase the takers, without corresponding increase in the cost of operating; and in the no distant future your Committee believe that the rates can be reduced to one-half the present rates, and still leave a sufficient revenue to pay interest on the bonds and cost of operating, while a small sum can be annually accumulating to form a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds.

Under the provisions of our charter nothing can be done in the way of incurring an indebtedness sufficient to purchase or build Water Works by the city until the proposition is submitted to the people at a general election, and by them approved.

Your Committee therefore recommend that the proposition of the Portland Water Company for the sale of their Works, rights, &c., &c., be submitted to the people at the coming June election, as provided by charter, for their approval or rejection.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) J. B CONGLE,
J. C. MORELAND,
Committee on Fire and Water.

The Portland Water Company would respectfully state to the tax payers the fact, that they have not urged the city to purchase our works. We have simply answered in good faith communications from committees appointed by the Mayor and Common Council of this city, as we supposed in good faith on the part of the city, and as a continuance of our willingness to give to the tax payers and the public any information they may desire, in order that they may vote intelligently at the coming June election for or against the purchase of our works by the city, we submit the following abstract from our books for two years, with the probable rates for one year:

Rates for 1874, $50,000—25 per cent. less than present rates		12,500 00
Surplus after reduction of rates		$6,520 00

The city can run the works, reduce the rates 25 per cent., and leave a balance in favor of the city of six thousand, five hundred and twenty dollars; or, in other words, consumers that now pay $2 per month, can be supplied for $1 50 per month, and others in proportion; and still the city will receive a revenue without taxing the people for a water supply.

Any further information desired in relation to the Company's works will be freely given on application at their office.

Respectfully,
THE PORTLAND WATER COMPANY.
H. D. GREEN, President.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated [illegible] are successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and [illegible] mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any party who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to the patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Post Office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy??pt
